

Privacy policy

In the context of European data protection legislation (GDPR), we would like to provide you with the following information on the processing of your personal data.

Your personal data is processed by BlueChem.

BlueChem
Olieweg 95
2020 Antwerp

A question about your data? Contact: info@bluechem.be.

You can also contact the Data Protection Authority at contact@apd-gba.be.

To whom is this privacy policy addressed?

This privacy statement is mainly concerned with the processing of personal data of our current and former tenants, customers, prospects and of their staff. Also of persons who have expressed an interest in our services and persons with whom BlueChem and its employees come into contact in connection with its objective and activities.

What personal data does BlueChem process?

And what is the ground fort his processing?

BlueChem keeps records of :

- Your contact details: e.g. name, first name, address, language, e-mail, telephone number, position within your organization, ...

If you are an employee of a BlueChem tenant, we use this data as part of the services BlueChem provides to its tenants.

If you are a person with whom BlueChem and its employees come into contact as part of its mission and activities, such as, for example, tenants' customers, potential tenants, ... we use this data as part of BlueChem's objective to help start-ups and ambitious growth companies from home and abroad to advance sustainable innovations for the chemistry of the future on an international scale.

When you register for one of our events:

- We register your data with your agreement, OR
- If we have received your data from a third party, we will use it in the context of BlueChem's objective to help start-ups and ambitious growth companies from home and abroad to advance sustainable innovations for the chemistry of the future on an international scale.

You can unsubscribe in a simple way at any time.

If you are an employee of an organization or company that has a contractual relationship with BlueChem (e.g. a supplier, a customer ...), we use these data in the context of the execution of this contractual relationship.

If you contact BlueChem, e.g. with a request for information, we use this data in the context of processing your request.

If you visit BlueChem, we use this data as part of the physical security of the building.

If you visit our website, we may store certain data based on the cookies we place.

- Information about your professional areas of interest: e.g. social law, safety, environment, product policy, energy, transport and logistics, innovation, IP, ... We use this data to inform you about current affairs and events organized by BlueChem and our partners on these topics.
- For which BlueChem meetings and events you have registered. We may also store your responses or feedback regarding these events that we receive from you as part of evaluations.

BlueChem may receive information relating to you from third parties. We may use this information to contact you for prospecting purposes. We may also use information received from external partners to improve, complete or update your personal data.

What does BlueChem do with these data?

- If you are an employee of a BlueChem-tenant:

Your data are processed because you are a contact of BlueChem. Your data will be processed for the organization of BlueChem's services to its tenants (e.g. communication or meetings).
- If you are a person with whom BlueChem and its employees come into contact as part of its mission and activities:
 - Your data is processed in the context of the objective of helping start-ups and ambitious growth companies from home and abroad to advance sustainable innovations for the chemistry of the future on an international scale.

- If you register for one of our events:

The data you provide us with as part of the registration for the event will be processed for:

- The follow-up of your registration and any comments you may have in that context.
- General customer management, including accounting processing, management of disputes and legal proceedings, the collection or assignment of debts and the protection of our rights in general.
- For certain events, participants will receive a simplified list of participants with their names, first names and organization.
- Your data will also be used to inform you about BlueChem's other activities, about current affairs relevant to companies in the sector and about events organized by BlueChem.

- If you are an employee of an organization or a company that has a contractual relationship with BlueChem:

Your data will be processed:

- For the follow-up of the order and your possible comments or complaints in this context.
 - For general customer and supplier management, including accounting processing, management of disputes and legal proceedings, the collection or assignment of debts and the protection of our rights in general.
- If you visit our website:
We may store certain data based on the cookies we place. For more information on this, please refer to our cookie statement. Your data will be used to improve your browsing experience and to compile anonymous statistics on the quality of the website.
 - In certain cases we are legally obliged to process your personal data and/or to communicate them to competent authorities or bodies determined by law.

Passing on your personal data to third parties

Your data will not be passed on to third parties without your permission.

In certain exceptional cases, your personal data may be transferred to third parties without your consent. Specifically:

- To subcontractors in the framework of activities linked to BlueChem's activities;
- To competent authorities or bodies determined by law in the framework of legal and regulatory obligations.

How long does BlueChem keep your data?

BlueChem will retain your personal data until such time as BlueChem is notified that your relationship with BlueChem has ended (e.g. you are no longer an employee of a BlueChem tenant, you are no longer a contracting party to BlueChem, you unsubscribe from the newsletter, etc.), unless a statutory retention period applies e.g. a statutory limitation period.

Automated decision making

In no case does BlueChem base the processing of personal data solely on automated decision-making.

We protect your personal data

We make every effort to secure your personal data and to protect your privacy as much as possible. We take all measures that are technically and organizationally necessary for this purpose.

Your rights?

You can exercise your rights by contacting info@bluechem.be. You will be asked to prove your identity.

You can always consult your data.

If your data is not correct, you can request that BlueChem correct, complete and/or update it.

Your data are transferable when processed with your consent and/or by automated means.

In certain cases (as provided by Articles 17, 18 and 21 of the General Data Protection Regulation), you may oppose BlueChem's processing of your data and/or request that BlueChem erase your data.

If the processing of your data is based on your consent, you may withdraw it at any time. This withdrawal will then only apply for the future.

In addition, you can always contact the Data Protection Authority for questions or complaints, at contact@apd-gba.be.

Amendments to this privacy statement

BlueChem reserves the right to amend this privacy statement at any time and in accordance with the General Data Protection Regulation.